Description: Just weeks after sharing the findings from the first 10,000+ responses and only 12 weeks into capturing the home working experience, we've already passed the 50,000 milestone and are ready to share the next round of insights. How does the employee experience working from home stack up to the office experience, and what else have we learned from this larger dataset? Join us as Chief Insights and Research Officer Dr. Peggie Rothe and Leesman's Founder and CEO Tim Oldman take us through the latest results and share how home working is really working.
